CROWN
lift trucks

Crown Equipment Pty Ltd has over 40 years experience in the Australian materials handling industry. Our manufacturing commitment extends as far back as 1972 and we remain to this day the largest of a very small group of companies that manufacture in Australia.

Employing almost 1000 people with branches in 24 locations throughout Australia, Crown can service any lift truck, almost anywhere in the country.

Our 280 mobile service technicians are linked by our real time GPRS linked intelligent service management system (iSMS) to ensure that in over 90% of situations we are able to attend breakdown calls within a two hour period.

The Crown corporation has worked extensively over the last 40 years to not only increase our sales of lift trucks but also to increase the amount of components produced by our company owned manufacturing facilities. So much so that today we internally manufacture over 85% of the components that go into producing one of our electric lift trucks.

With sales, service, rentals, spare parts, fleet management and driver training facilities available throughout Australia, Crown is well placed to provide a materials handling solution to fit any application. Give us a call now to see how we can provide the support you require to achieve your business goals.

The range of equipment offered in Australia is diverse and incorporates electric, petrol, LPG and diesel models in all configurations. Visit our website at www.crown.com/au to gain a greater understanding of our range.

Crown is committed to supporting the industry bodies that work towards providing a more competitive and safer transport and logistics industry in Australia and are proud to be a "Friend of the LAA".
