

FRIEND OF THE LAA

MCPHEE
distribution services

McPhee Distribution Services is a privately owned warehousing & transport business established in Sydney in 1984 by John McPhee & Wal Moloney.

Originally trading as Warehousing & Distribution Australia, the business is now under the McPhee family name and continues to offer high levels of service & security from facilities in Sydney, Melbourne, Perth & Brisbane.

McPhee customers benefit from our flexible, variably costed solutions that are tailor made to suit your business needs. The McPhee offer is fully scalable and our customers include the importer who operates a business from home with a small range of products to the large multi national with sales offices in each state.

McPhee is experienced in trading electronically with the major retail groups and in the proper handling of a diverse range of product including consumer goods, electronics, spare parts, industrial & telecommunications infrastructure and healthcare.

We can provide overflow solutions to support your warehouse or full service warehousing including order fulfillment down to item level. We can track items by serial number, batch number or use-by date and report to you electronically on all product movement and on hand.

A number of value add services are also available including product modification and localization.
